

Silence

It was like a story of a man loosing his mind while he was swimming in the immense ocean. Blue deep water where he could see himself inside and nothing more... it might be only the natural feel of a human being. It's enough saying: I smell the salt of a passage of love. Nothing more than a sentence, a small insignificant gesture can change emotions.
